

THE AUSTRALIAN

---

Three ASX-listed small caps that could create useful disruption

RIC ARD EMMING

---

orget for second about the noise in v luin

One that I particularly like is early stage but it has great deal of potential, owning technology that turns human waste into clean energy, which puts the company in prime position to disrupt conventional producers of hydrogen as well as graphite miners. Hazer Group is in the process of building demonstration plant in its home state of Western Australia, which should be a big positive for its prospects of eventually supplying the giant Japan

This is the investment re in which ex-All Bl ck c pt in D vid irk's te m t AS -listed
B il d